

Ditch the Dish.

Feeding time should mean great times.

But they can become very boring for your dog.

*The same food day in, day out. Same bowl. Same place. Same company
I'm bored just typing let alone living it.*

Why not take your dog out for breakfast or dinner.

Let's go to the park for breakfast a nice morning stroll helps with relaxation and mental growth.

Why encourage a stronger bond with a bowl, than with the person providing the food in the bowl?

By taking your dogs food out with you on walks you encourage your dog to pay attention to you because they never know when the next tasty morsel will come. You can read about enrichment, but your life is the best enrichment. Seeing the world with a calm and attentive Dog is amazing!

Ditch the Dish and build the bond.

Attention and focus, for dogs, is a trained behaviour and it something that all dogs must learn. So instead of giving your dog his breakfast or dinner for free, use it to help you in training and teaching your dog new and exciting skills. By using their food in this way, not only do you mentally stimulate your dog, but you also get a well manner dog that you are proud to take out with you.
